I noticed something similar on one of my own drone footage from a lake in Norway. If you look closely after 6-7 seconds a white fast moving thing is moving from the top of the screen to back. Any explanations? Here is the link: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ucxl6UNc9cs>

Jesper, what drone model did you use? This is important to know, because different models use different optical sensors and have different shutter times, which are responsible for the smear effect we see when an object moves across the image very quickly, as can be seen in your example. For instance, surprisingly, a DJI Phantom 3 or 4 performs better than a DJI Mavic in this regard.

Very interesting Mr Adolfsen, a thousand thanks for uploading the footage. Linked from ST10.

Excellent Jesper. If you send your drone up at night in areas where there are no streetlights like here, they are easier to spot but then people say they are shooting stars - though incredibly low ones! And there is another at 0.56 in the middle of the screen. Look for the flash. Some call these Phenomena 4.

Thanks :) I don't either think this is a shooting star because it looks like it is coming from below and going up because it gets longer in frame 2 and 3. I know there is another one.

Jesper Adolffsson 2 months ago

Elso Papo I thought about that too but then why is the length of the light changing so fast. If it was a bug how could it get so close to the camera in only three frames. That's less than 1/20 of a second and I was flying at the same altitude all the time.

Elso Papo no way that is a bug or any animal, moves way too fast.

What a treat! Thank you Jesper for sharing this remarkably gorgeous landscape with us! I live in a really flat and extra hot section of Georgia \ud83c\uddfa\ud83c\uddf8 - I\u2019m envious of your altitude & waterfalls (but not your time traveling orbs\ud83d\udd0c I prefer to view them on your channel \ud83d\udd06) God Bless!!

Obviously fake

Jesper Adolfo 2 months ago

Stupid son saying his father's UFO video is fake. It's not and anyone can have the original file and check. No more borrowing the drone for you my son !!!!!

LordLatt 2 months ago its not fake. crazy how small the human mind is. How it has a hard time believing anything it cant understand, but will pray to a god they never seen or spoke to.....poor human race. good footage!!!
